

I am a frequent user of the Traffic and Weather channels offered by XM radio. I find that being able to get continuous traffic/weather updates when I want them is a much more convenient method of receiving this important information versus waiting the interval set up by the on-air broadcasters. I also find the XM information much more comprehensive since they do not have the same commitment to air commercials as the on-air stations. I have paid a premium for this convenience and I find it ridiculous that the NAB should think that they have a right to take this away from XM subscribers. I respectfully urge the FCC to reject the NAB's petition 04-160.
